Information Source	Remarks
www.1-jobs.com	No qualification process www.energycareers.com	Candidate is notified by e-mail of new opportunities when their profile meets the requirements of an open position. After the candidate expresses an interest in the position, their resume will be forwarded to the client. At no time will clients be able to view candidate data without prior permission from the candidate.
www.hire.com	Can ask candidates to answer questions to determine if they are a good fit for your particular job. Focused more on recruiting of full-time hires, not contractors. Candidates enter as little as possible in the database until employer is ready to match them to a project.
www.itsquare.com	IT-focus only. Has a pre-defined list of contracting companies for candidates to match against. On-line interaction with potential candidates and other providers.
www.mainsequence.net	PC Recruiter. The total job of recruiting is what sets PC Recruiter apart from all others. Makes a call-list of companies candidate wants to troll, then candidates work the calls. Allows candidate to create activities and schedule items right from the call lists.
www.monster.com	A reverse auction where company bids on contractors and the contractors choose which job they want to fill. (See www.prohire.com)
www.recruitmax.com	Recruit MAX
www.rsllc.com	Recruiting Solutions. Creates a searchable database of candidate information and their resumes. Manages submittals by consulting firms and temporary agencies.
www.SkillsVillage.com	(Now part of PeopleSoft.com)
www.vivant.com	Uses pre-defined list of staffing firms and involves interviewing after matching job requirements.
